GASOLINE GOES UP

Price Jumps 1 Cent for Second Time This Month—Now Selling at 26 Cents.

Up goes the gasoline! This is not a tale of an explosion, but simply the announcement that the price of "gas" has made another jump—the second of the month. Probably the announcement will have the effect of an explosion, which it is likely to be, to the thousands who must pay the new prices for the previous July.

The retail price of gasoline, as quoted along Broad Street yesterday, was 26 cents a gallon. Prior to January 12, the price was 24 cents, on that day it made an advance to 25 cents. Now another penny is added to the cost.

Inadequate shipping facilities and increases in the cost of crude oils is the reason assigned for the increase in wholesale prices, which had been held by the refiners, who claim that little or no profit is made on "gas."

Boston auto owners, however, pay several cents more than Richmonders, so there is some consolation to those who receive higher bills next month.

FIRE AT "ROCKLAND FARM"

LOSS AT COUNTY Home of Thomas Atkinson May Reach $20,000.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) GORDONSVILLE, Va., January 27.—Rockland Farm, about ten and a half miles from Gordonsville, the country estate of Thomas Atkinson of Richmond, was the scene on Friday night of a large fire. About 6:30 o'clock fire was discovered breaking through the walls of the engine room, which soon spread to the stables. The manager and a number of the hands on the place tried to extinguish the fire but failed. A phone message was sent to the Gordonsville fire department, which was rushed to the scene.

Adjoining the engine room was the dairy, granary, cow barn, horse barns and silos, and all were in flames when the fire company arrived. A stiff wind was blowing at the time, and smoke fell and blew to fields a quarter of a mile distant. All the horses, cattle and swine were removed from the burning building without loss.

Mr. Atkinson's loss probably will be close to $20,000.
